No. 135 Church Street,

TORONTO.

M. HILTON WILLIAMS, M.D.

PROPRIETOR.

All diseases of the respiratory organs treated by "Medical Inhalations," combined with proper constitutional remedies.

Permanently established for the cure of all the varieing diseases of the Head, Throat and Chest, viz.: Catarrh, Throat Diseases, Bronchitis, Asthma, Consumption, Catarrhal Ophthalmia (Sore Eyes) and Catharsal Deafness; also Diseases of the Heart.

Our system of Practice consists in the most improved Medical Inhalathon, combined with proper Constitutional Treatment. Having devoted our time, energy and skill for the past fifteen years to the treatment of the various diseases of the

HEAD, THROAT AND LUNGS,

(During which time we have successfully treated over 30,000 cases), we are enabled to offer the afflicted the most perfect remedies and appliance for the immediate cure of all those troublesome afflictions.

CATARRH.

As we have sent in tracing the relation to Nasal Catarrh and throat diseases to consumption, there are times, perhaps days, or even whole weeks together, when the affection gives little or no annoyance, and the patient flatters himself that it has entirely passed away, when a sudden cold or other cause of irritation occurs, and the progress of the disease is materially hastened. At this season of the year, not unfrequently, the disease becomes apparent, and almost follow if the inflammation be not speedily allayed. Many there are who enquire how they can relieve themselves that the evil is not of any magnitude, and will soon pass away with the special cause of the irritation; but experience is the fearful error as it has to will prove to them the fearful error as it has to thousands who have preceded them to that "bourne from whence no traveller returns."

No one, therefore, who is afflicted with nasal catarrh or throat affection is safe while it is suffered to exist. Often slight causes give rise to serious complications, for example: The Uvula, or pendulous organ which hangs down from the palate, just over the roots of the tongue, is very apt to get inflamed, and its parts become relaxed, it stretches out lengthwise, so that its extremities sometimes rest upon the tongue, touching it and causing an unmanageable cough.

The cause was trivial at first, and might have been quickly removed. How important it is, therefore, that before the patient enters upon any course of medication a careful examination be made by one competent to decide upon the nature and extent of the disease.

Inhalations are applicable to all diseases of the respiratory organs, including catarrh, throat diseases, bronchitis, consumption; and thousands of others can be cured by this mode of treatment when cases can be cured by this mode of treatment when nothing else can reach them.

Consultation free, and prices of the institute within the very best of references given from those already cured.

Those who desire to consult me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for an examination, but if impossible to call the office personally, you may write for "List of Questions" and circular, both of which will be sent free of charge. Address

A LIVELY PARLIAMENT.

THE ENGLISH PREMIER AND HIS OBSTRUCTIVE MEMBERS.

How the Repression and Arrears Bills Are to be Kept Back—Mr. Gladstone Warms up in the Debate—Dillon on His Mettle.

LONDON, May 24.—All the papers comment upon the significant divergence among the Irish members in the division last evening in the house of commons on Mr. Gladstone's motion that the repression and arrears bills have precedence over other business. Besides O'Donnell and Arthur O'Connor, those refusing to follow Parnell, included Thomas Bower, O'Conner, Redmond, Finnegan, Richard Power, Sexton, McCarthy, Biggar, O'Sullivan, Moore, Healy, Sullivan, Leamy, Callan, and Shiel. The following abstained with Parnell from voting on the division: O'Kelly, Commins, Synan, Malloy, and Marum.

THE OBSTRUCTIONISTS.

The Parnellite members of parliament state that the repression bill cannot pass before July. Nearly 200 amendments are prepared against it.

A FIERY DEBATE.

In the house of commons to-day, Mr. Forster denied that the government had negotiated with suspects clandestinely.

Mr. Dillon resumed the debate on the repression bill, intimating that evictions were more culpable than outrages.

Mr. Gladstone severely denounced Dillon for endorsing outrages by refusing to assist the government in carrying the bill.

Mr. Dillon declared he always denounced outrages.

Gladstone replied that inciters to illegalities were responsible for the consequences, and Dillon affirmed that Gladstone had declared that boycotting was legal.

Mr. Gladstone then spoke with great passion. He said the Irish must confine themselves to agitating for changes in the land laws or whatever they may desire by means of respecting the private judgment and liberty of the people. Regarding the objection to the Irish judges to the supersession of juries he declared if parliament allowed the judges to interfere in framing the bill they would abandon one of the most important functions of the government. He thought the institution of a special tribunal was necessary. No good could come of prolonged discussion unless it was the intention of some members to exasperate animosity between England and Ireland. He beseeched the house not to obstruct the bill.

Mr. Ritchie [conservative] stated he could not vote for the bill.

Sir Stafford Northcote regretted this intention. Whatever fault might be found with the government's Irish policy, conservatives ought to give a solid vote for the bill in the interests of peace and order. There should be no uncertan sound in the matter.

Mr. O'Donnell denounced the bill. The Irish ought never to rest until the administration of Ireland was free from British interference.

The debate adjourned on motion of Mr. Parnell.

THE DIPLOMATIC CORRESPONDENCE.

The Times, discussing the correspondence between Minister Lowell and Secretary Frelinghuysen in regard to the suspects, says: We hear a great deal of protest in the Washington cabinet, with fear of the Irish vote before their eyes, against our finding it necessary to imprison American suspects, but we hear very little of the steps taken by them against the assassination press.

M'CORMICK IDENTIFIED.

TROY, N.Y., May 24.—The Press identifies McCormick, the Irish suspect, as being naturalized in Troy. He was an editor, and once applied to the Press for a situation. He lived here several years.

THE PERSECUTED JEWS.

The New and Stringent Regulations of the Russian Ministry.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 24.—The regulations agreed upon by the committee of ministers and approved by the emperor, prohibiting the Jews settling outside the towns and villages except where Jewish settlements already exist, and from trading on Sundays and the christian holidays. The regulations only apply to the governments where the Jews are permanently settled. All contracts of purchase or tenancy with Jews are provisionally suspended.

The government is firmly resolved to punish inexorably all outrages against the persons and property of the Jews. The governors and other authorities are commanded on personal responsibility to take prompt measures to prevent or suppress outrages against the Jews. Reminsas will entail dismissal from office.

THE CRISIS IN EGYPT.

The Situation Becoming Foreboding—Preparations for War.

CAIRO, May 24.—The situation is hourly becoming worse. The ministry continue hostile preparation. A line of torpedoes are being laid along the coast. Native carpenters and smiths have been summoned to the citadel. All officers were summoned to the barracks yesterday and required to swear to defend the government against intervention. The Bedouin Sheiks refused to pledge themselves to resist Turkish intervention. The united squadron has contracted for three months' provisions.

OBITUARY.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Brevet-Major General Geo. D. Ramsay [retired] died last evening, aged 80.

LONDON, May 24.—Sir John Holker, who resigned the lord justiceship of the high court of appeal on Monday, is dead.

THE WEATHER BULLETIN.

WASHINGTON, May 25, 1 a.m.—Lower lakes: Local rains, followed by clearing weather; variable winds; stationary or high temperature; generally lower pressure.

OSCAR WILDE.

Arrival in Town—Attends the Lacrosse Match—Received With Invitations.

Oscar Wilde arrived yesterday forenoon on the G. T. R. from the east. He was dressed in a slate-colored suit of cordel goods, blue silk tie with silk handkerchief to match. He wore an immense slouched hat. There were lots of people down to meet him, among them Mr. Patrick Boyle, the genial editor of the Irish Canadian. Rushing up to his æsthetic countryman Mr. Boyle said: "Mr. Wilde I welcome you to Toronto on behalf of our Irish citizens." Mr. Wilde thanked Mr. Boyle, and expressed a desire to see the Irish Canadian which contained his own portrait and that of his illustrious mother. Oscar put up at the Queen's, took a drive round the city, visited the lacrosse match, dined at the Toronto club, received a crowd of invitations, allowed himself to be interviewed, and generally put in a busy day.

AT THE LACROSSE GROUNDS

he was received with cheers and viewed the match in the company of the lieutenant governor's family. Speaking to a World reporter he said he enjoyed the lacrosse exhibition considered it an interesting and exciting game. He thought, however the picturesqueness of the spectacle would be enhanced if the Indians were more of their own lights. Thus the gas was fired. their own dress. He thought their umpire should certainly have appeared in full Indian dress. Oscar admired the dress of the Toronto ladies, and was especially struck on the array of a little girl in print trimmed with embroidery. Looking around Toronto, he said he was struck with its wide, regular streets. "But you should not build with white brick; it is not in good taste." But if you think you won't burn any color but white what can you do? He did not like Montreal with its narrow streets—he was half a day in finding a book store. Quebec, he considered, looked like a small English town. The ladies of the ancient capital came in for high praise for their taste in dress. Oscar will look round the city further to-day, and lecture in his knee breeches at the Grand to-night, where a big house is sure to greet him. Speaking of newspapers he said The World was the most artistic in its typographical arrangement of any he had yet seen in Canada.

IN HOLIDAY ATTIRE.

Celebrating the Queen's Birthday—Quiet and Pleasant Enjoyments.

The sixty-fourth anniversary of Queen Victoria's birthday was celebrated in a quiet, pleasurable manner by the good people of Toronto yesterday, and the day was marked with an unusual stillness that was akin to the Sabbath. The general cry was, "out of town." There are various ways of celebrating a holiday, and the citizens of Toronto understand the modus operandi of a day's enjoyment as well as those of any other city in Canada. Our own beautiful bay, parks, resorts and places of retreat make the matter very easy and inexpensive, and nature has given the poor of the city almost an equal chance with the rich, as far as enjoying fresh air, a sail on the water or a pleasant walk goes. Where is there a park in the Dominion or the States that stately one in the northern part of the city, and then, too, it is free to all. The Humber, the Don, the island, Victoria park, High park, Riverside park and other similar places are within easy access. Excursions and picnics were the most popular mode of diversion yesterday, and all were apparently well patronized. The different events of the celebration are referred to elsewhere.

Below is referred to some of the picnics and excursions, and the sporting events will be found in the regular sporting column:

IN THE QUEEN'S PARK.

The event of the day was the ceremony of trooping the colors of the Grenadier Guards under command of Col. Grasett. The turn out was imposing. The men looked simply immense in their busbies and bright scarlet coats; the drum major was in his glory; and the band discoursed martial and well-played music. There was a large attendance of spectators. The park was crowded all day. Several games of one kind or another were played. A new flag was floating from the staff but it was not the regular Canadian jack. The park committee should have the Canadian arms served upon it.

THE ODDFELLOWS' EXCURSION.

The Canadian Order of Oddfellows' excursion to Barrie and Orillia yesterday was attended by 1300 people. The train was composed of twenty-two cars. At Orillia games and sports were indulged in, and the Toronto boys carried off the palm, although Moodie of Hamilton won the bicycle race. A pleasant day was spent, and the excursionists reached home at midnight.

Prof. Toulmin's quadrille band furnished music for dancing at Couchiching park.

AT VICTORIA PARK.

Victoria park was well patronized, considering that a steamer trip to that place was only advertised a day or two before. The trim little steamer "John Harris," under the command of a gentlemanly and accommodating officer, left on each trip until a late hour in the evening. There were brass and string bands on the grounds, and dancing was kept up with a vim during the afternoon and evening. Two parties who felt "too hot" went out for a sail off the dock, and, upsetting their boat, got "cooled" in short order. They succeeded in hanging to the capsized boat until it drifted to the shore, where they were assisted in landing by some friends.

PROF. HAND AT THE GARDENS.

About the largest attraction in the city last night was the display of horticultural gardens with fireworks by Professor Hand of Hamilton. There was an immense number of spectators. The young men went especially to see how the fair sex appeared with their new spring suits. At eight o'clock the salute was fired. This was followed by various displays of pyrotechnic art which were an entire success. The band of the Grenadiers under the leadership of Mr. Toulmir, added a great deal to the pleasure of the promenaders. At 10:30 the Professor touched off the last rocket and the large mass quickly dispersed.

THE HOUSE OF PROVIDENCE PICNIC.

The house of providence picnic at Sunnyside yesterday was a highly successful affair. The number of people that went out on the various trains was in excess of any previous year. The picnic passed off in a most pleasant manner and was fully enjoyed by the throngs of recreation seekers.

Gored to Death by a Bull.

RHINEBECK, N.Y., May 24.—Joshua A. Bowne, president of the Rhinebeck savings bank, was gored to death by a bull last night.

DEATH IN A COAL MINE.

EIGHT MEN LOSE THEIR LIVES BY AN EXPLOSION.

Disregarding the Advice of the Fire Boss and Going Down to Destruction—Names of the Victims—How the Disaster Occurred.

SHENANDOAH, Pa., May 24.—An explosion occurred this afternoon in Heaviker & Co.'s Kohinoor colliery. Six miners have been taken out dead. Perhaps ten or more lives are lost.

LATER.—Among the dead taken out are John Lee, fire boss, James Mulhall and two men named Stroub and McDonald. Twenty men are still in the mine and cannot be reached on account of the after damp. The explosion killed two mules and blew down all the doors in the mines, and hurled the props through the gateway with terrific force. Four men were taken home badly burned but still living. It is believed the number killed will be about fourteen. The excitement is intense. When the men went down this morning the fire boss warned them that the mine was full of gas. The men, however, became negligent and discarded the safety lamps and lighted their own lights. Thus the gas was fired.

THE LATEST.—It is now believed that only six men were killed and two fatally hurt. The names of the killed are: Martin and James Mulhall (father and son); Owen Gallaher; James McDonald; John Streit; Samuel Hugo (fatally injured); John Lee, fire boss, and Matty Matenhynowicz. The men were working at the bottom of the new slope, 1700 feet from the top of the shaft, when the fall of rock occurred, forcing sulphur down and it quickly ignited from the naked lights. The force of the explosion was terrific.

THE KINGSTON REVIEW.

A Successful Affair, but Attended with a Fatal Accident.

KINGSTON, May 24.—The review and sham battle to-day were a great success, but was attended with a most lamentable accident. While the Gananoque artillery were galloping past one of the horses stumbled and fell, throwing the rider, Dempster, to the ground. The wheel of the gun carriage passed over his head, killing him instantly.

The following troops took part in the review: Queen's Own of Toronto, Victoria Rifles of Montreal, Prince of Wales Own of Kingston, Gananoque Artillery, Battery "B" and the military college cadets. After the review they paraded the streets of the city, making a fine display. The weather was fine.

A HERO WOUNDED.

Train-wreckers at Work in Connecticut—A Brave Young Man.

MADISON, Conn., May 24.—A young man named Way, going home at midnight on the track of the Shore line railroad, heard pounding of hammers, etc., and found a large number of ties placed across the track nailed down. He began to remove them, as the mail train from New York for Boston was soon due, but was fired on by parties in ambush, a bullet wounding him in the leg, another breaking his arm. May then proceeded down the road and stopped the train by waving a lantern he had with him. The train hands removed the obstructions. Way's wounds were dressed by a physician on the train. Way remained on the track after the train proceeded. The wreckers again replaced obstructions to throw off the train from Boston, but Way signalled the train in time.

The obstruction consisted of two large ties put between the ties on a pile bridge, and which projected over the level track three feet. The bridge is 200 feet long and spans a salt meadow, in an embankment thirty feet deep on either side of the track. But for Way's discovery there would have been a terrible disaster. Way is only 20 years old and is station agent at East river. He says five men were concerned in the affair. The railroad authorities are making great efforts to capture the wreckers. It is supposed three tramps were detected trying to steal a ride and ejected from two trains were concerned in the attempt. Way ran to the station after he was fired on and displayed red lights. There were eight passenger cars on the train, well loaded. Three men have been arrested on suspicion at East Lynne, and one man at Middletown.
